Re: Extension of Deadlines for NANC Working Groups Reports

Dear Chairman Kavulla:

As you know, the NANC's Nationwide Number Portability (NNP) Issues and the Interoperable Video Calling (IVC) Working Groups were directed to provide final reports to the Wireline Competition Bureau (Bureau) on March 28, 2019 and June 20, 2019, respectively. In the process of re-starting the work of these groups after the government shutdown, each indicated the need to extend the deadline of these reporting requirements. Specifically, the NNP Issues WG requests an extension of the deadline for its final report to Monday, April 29, 2019; while the IVC Working Group requests an extension of the deadline for its interim report to June 20, 2019, with its final report being due to Bureau on Thursday, September 12, 2019.

Upon review, we extend the deadlines for the reports from the WGs as follows:

- For the NNP Issues Working Group, the deadline for the submission of its final report is extended to Monday, April 29, 2019; and
- For the IVC Working Group, the deadline for the submission of its interim report is extended to Thursday, June 20, 2019.

We, however, defer setting a deadline for the submission of the final IVC Working Group report at this time. Instead, we direct the group to work diligently on the issues set forth in the original designation letter and to move towards a final report as quickly as possible. We will closely monitor the group's progress to see whether an extension until September 12, 2019, is warranted and set a deadline for the final report based on our observations of that progress. If you have questions about the extensions for the NANC reports, please contact Marilyn Jones, the NANC's Designated Federal Officer, by telephone at 418-2357, or by email at marilyn.jones@fcc.gov.

Sincerely,
